CB World hit again by thieves

Citizens band radios continue to be a popular target for thieves as Sedalia CB World, 2409 West Broadway, was burglarized for the second time this year.

Two base radios, one mobile unit, three watches and $15 in cash were taken from the radio shop. Total value for the loss was set at $800.70.

Taken from the service station were undetermined amounts of beer, cigarettes, motor oil, golf caps, pocket knives, lighters and pens. No value has been set for the loss.

Inventories are scheduled to be taken in both businesses to determine the exact

Surprised by figures

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government apparently finished fiscal 1976 with less of a deficit than expected, but it may be due to a quirk in the fiscal calendar.

Ford administration officials said Wednesday they had significantly overestimated expenditures. The federal deficit for fiscal 1976 could be near $68 billion, down from the $77 billion estimated in March by the Office of Management and Budget.

The fiscal year ended June 30. "We're very much surprised at how low the figures are coming in," said Dale McOmber, assistant director of OMB.

It is "difficult to say why" the estimate was so far off, he added. "All of us have clearly overestimated cash outlays in a rather widespread fashion.'

Critics have accused the administration of cutting back spending on social programs even after the expenditures were approved by Congress.

With the exception of the Defense Department, there was no rush of spending by government agencies as fiscal 1976 drew to a close last week, McOmber said. In past years, government agencies had to spend all their allocations by the end of the fiscal year, or lose them.

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Spain's new when reform efforts stalled under heavy Fraga, architect of the old government's reform program, refused to serve under Suarez, a center-rightist.

Foreign Minister Jose Maria de Areilza, another leading reformer, also refused to serve in the new government. The two reformers reportedly influenced half a dozen other politicians and left Suarez with a lineup that one official called "a mediocre cabinet of second stringers and obliging holdovers."

But a source close to the premier said all the ministers were committed to the reform program.

Among the 10 new faces were several conservative Christian Democrats. Their inclusion was the first affirmative recognition of an opposition group since the civil war brought the late Francisco Franco to power nearly 40 years ago. But Suarez apparently failed in a last-hour bid to find an accommodation with the left wing that would have neutralized leftist opposition to his government.

Political parties were recently legalized, but legislation guaranteeing their right to organize and assemble has not been approved. Spain's first multiparty

Fluoridation is not up to City Council

The decision to fluoridate Sedalia's water supply rests solely with the Water Board, not the City Council, it was learned Wednesday night. Water Board members said, however, they would take no action on the matter until the results of a special public opinion ballot are known. A letter fcrom Robert S. Miller of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources presented at the Water Board meeting Wednesday stipulated that a City Council ordinance is not necessary to implement a fluoridation program here.

In an April, 1972, opinion ballot on the fluoridation proposal, the measure was defeated by 145 votes, 2,527 to 2,382.

The July 2 letter says fluoridation equipment, offered free of charge to the city by the Missouri Division of Health, 'is for installation at the request of the local water purveyor.'

Water department manager Herb Taylor said he misunderstood an earlier letter from Miller which said an ordinance must be passed before the equipment could be obtained and installed.

"I thought that 'ordinance' meant City Council ordinance," he said. "All it means is that the Water Board must approve it.'

Taylor said that now the Water Board alone can accept the offer, but stated it would take no action before reviewing the results of a special advisory ballot Aug. 3, drafted to gauge public opinion.

The July 2 letter further states, "It (fluoridation equipment is available where responsible public officials have authorized its installation and will agree to operate and maintain the equipment."

The Water Board passed a motion June 2 requesting the City Council pass an ordinance to fluoridate the water supply. The council took no action on the pro-

Attitude change possible

Reforms deemed necessary

improprieties by several U.S. congressmen have reinforced "a rather tense environment of distrust," Rep. James Symington, D-St. Louis, said Wednesday he believes several reform proposals made recently will cause this attitude to evolve "into at least a cautious acceptance by the people.'

Symington, in Sedalia campaigning for the Democratic nomination to succeed his father in the United States Senate, outlined several of the House reform recommendations. They included, he said, prohibitions against representatives taking cash out of stationery funds for other purposes, the drastic reduction in air mail allowances and an intense scrutiny of congressional office operations including instructions on better meeting auditing requirements.

On the state level, Symington said he has favored the Meramec Dam project since he was first elected to the House in proposed construction of a major airport

Remarking that recent revelations of 1968. However, he emphasized, his approval is now conditional, based on the retention of the Onondaga Cave, which has been threatened with destruction by the project. He added that he has helped mediate debates between advocates and opponents of the project and plans to continue doing so.

When the project was first proposed, Symington noted, a primary emphasis was on flood control. The corresponding creation of a lake, he continued, now has gained equal stature as a significant byproduct of the dam project. One benefit of this lake, Symington said, will be to provide a state water recreational resource for St. Louisans who now journey to lakes in nearby Alton, Ill., and other outstate locations.

Expanding upon this theme, Symington said he feels Illinois, in addition to luring tourists. "is also after our airport and airbase." He was referring to the Symington, who is chairman of the committee on rural education, health and job opportunities of the congressional rural caucus, also commented on rural issues, saying he opposes arbitrary actions by an administration "which unnecessarily restrict the export of agricultural commodities." He said he also favors legislation to set support prices near the farmer's cost of production, with quarterly adjustments for milk and annual adjustments for other com-

Queen is named for LaMonte

LaMONTE-Janet Ripley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ripley, was crowned queen of the local bicentennial observance Friday night.

Joining Miss Ripley was Mrs. Jennie Buffon, 92 years old, who was crowned the senior citizen bicentennial queen. Miss Joni Durham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Durham, was runner-up to Miss Ripley in the queen competition.

Among the activities which highlighted the three-day bicentennial festivities were a style show, old-fashioned ice supper, carnival cream games, a beard contest, trained canine demonstrations by Whiteman Air Force Base personnel and dogs and a baby contest. A 48-unit parade, featuring entries from LaMonte and many other area towns, was held Saturday night.

Also during the weekend observance, the official LaMonte bicentennial flag was presented and winners in various quilt and pillow case competition were named. Derese Gilbert placed first in the quilt contest and Lily Johnson, LaMonte, ranked first in the pillow case judging. Various dances and special church, services at all local churches were also held.

Several local, county and state office-holders, as well as several candidates for public office, visited the city during the weekend.

Leard, the group noted, has repeatedly acted as a "citizen's spokesman" on issues such as mass transit, energy problems and the Army Corps of Engineers. With his family, Leard has been active for many years in the environmental movement in the Jackson County area.

Grandmother, 83, likes pumping gas

GRESHAM, Neb. (AP) -Sylvia Mickey, 83, is a grandmother who pumps gas 15 hours a day. She says she doesn't want to be like "old people who just sit and wait for the end.'

"I'll keep going as long as I can," she says. Her two-pump gas station is managed by her son Lester.

She joined the work force while raising two children. In the 1920s, she sold periodical subscriptions. In the 1930s, she was a middleman in the chicken selling business. When her husband died in 1950, Mrs. Mickey took over their farm. At 74, she bought the gas station.

Today, she draws the line at patching tires and lifting car hoods.

Women, children worse off with no-fault divorce laws

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nofault divorce laws are leaving most women and children worse off financially than they would have been after separations under other divorce plans, according to a new study.

According to a report to President Ford by the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year, the reason is that most states have balked at putting a pricetag on the economic contribution of the person who has kept house and raised the children.

In contrast to skills developed during the marriage by the partner who worked outside the home, the homemaker's contributions are credited with little cash value.

"One 1972 nationwide study of 133 couples divorced since 1968 showed that after alimony and child support payments are made, the economic status of former husbands improves while that of former wives deteriorates." said former Rep. Martha Griffiths, who headed a homemaker committee for the commission.

The commission recommended to Ford that economic value of homemakers be considered in divorce laws and in laws such as those governing Social Security and disability payments.

The commission praised the concept of no-fault divorce but said the way it is being administered in most states hurts women and children.

In the past, fault on the part of one of the marriage partners had to be proven before a divorce was granted. This gave the partner who was dependent — usually the wife maximum leverage to bargain for the best possible settlement.

The husband was often willing to make a more generous economic payment in alimony or child support in exchange for getting out of the marriage without a contested court case, the commission said. This leverage was lost with fast-spreading use of no-fault divorces, where either spouse can petition for ending the marriage on the single ground of "irretrievable breakdown,"

Jail escape charges filed against Smith

CLINTON - Dusty Lee Smith, 20, 421 East Third, Sedalia, was arraigned in Henry County Magistrate Court here Thursday morning on felony charges of

Smith, who is being held here in lieu of $25,000 pending his July 16 trial on charges of first-degree robbery on a change of venue from Pettis County, escaped from the Henry County jail Thursday by overpowering a jailer.

He surrendered himself about 2 a.m. Wednesday to Sheriff Wilbur Schmidt after a five-day search of the Central Missouri area.

The robbery charge stems from a March 5 incident at Consumer's Market, 701 East Broadway, Sedalia, in which Kenneth Kreisel, an employe of the store, was shot and robbed of over $14,000.

Smith remains in the Henry County jail here in lieu of $10,000 bond on the escape charges, filed Wednesday afternoon, pending his preliminary hearing on July 21. He pleaded not guilty to that charge during his arraignment Thursday morn-

Co-op to hold annual meeting

The annual membership meeting of the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative, Inc., will be held at 1 p.m. July 19 at the Missouri State Fairgrounds Agricultural

At the meeting, one director will be elected from three of the cooperative's districts. Nominees from Pettis County include Leroy Ryan and Floyd Egbert, both of Green Ridge (district 3); and John Sneed Jr., Route 1, and Everett Stevenson, Smithton (district 4). Additional candidates may be nominated from the floor at the meeting.

Park Board's profits going up

Attendance is down, but profits are up for Sedalia's park pools, according to Park and Recreation Director Roscoe

Righter attributed the decline in attendance to the weather, noting "we had a cooler June this year than we did last year." Despite this drop, revenue has increased because of the increase in admission fees and the fact that more pool patrons are paying single-admission prices rather than using the more economical coupon books.

The new pool rates this year are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, with last year's rates set at 60 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. Under the coupon book format, whereby persons purchase a book of coupons to be used to gain admittance, this year's rates are 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. Persons submit one coupon each time they enter the pool and the coupon price is counted in each day's receipts.

"Last year, Righter said 41 per cent of the pool patrons in June used coupon tickets. This year, he added, only 21 per cent used coupons.

According to figures presented to the Park and Recreation Board, the pools have grossed $1,294 over last year's income as of the same date. Righter said 13,149 persons used the park department's three pools in June, accounting for a gross income of $7,566.30.

In other action, Righter said he and City Clerk Ralph Dedrick differed on final budget figures for the department. He said his final tabulations showed the department was $96.28 to the good, while

Two sentenced, one pleads guilty in Circuit Court

Two men were sentenced to prison terms Wednesday in Circuit Court and another man pled guilty to second degree burglary.

William F. Gravitt, 29, 316 West Henry, pled guilty to charges of burglary in connection with the Feb. 28 burglary of Hubbard School, Osage and Henry. Gravitt alledgedly took several frozen meat items from a freezer in the school's kitchen. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

He pled guilty May 11 to charges of second degree . burglary and stealing in connection with the Jan. 21 burglary and theft of several items from the Virginia Flower Child Development and Rehabilitation Center, 600 East 14th.

William Earl Burkhart, 51, Kansas City, who pled guilty to charges of writing a no funds check for $150 to Knight's Television Jan. 27, was sentenced to two years in a state correctional institution.

$50 fine handed down in drug case

Gary E. Hatfield, 19, 2300 East 10th, was fined $50 in Magistrate Court Thursday morning after pleading guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing a controlled substance, less than 35 grams of marijuana.

Judge Hazel Palmer also gave Hatfield a suspended 30-day jail sentence and placed him on probation for six months.

Hatfield was arrested by Sedalia police June 24 near the Sedalia Country Club on South Limit, when he allegedly had the

Stating his stance on other issues, Symington said he:

-Favors passage of the Equal Rights Amendment.

-Is not yet willing to endorse the Humphrey-Hawkins public employment bill "because of the danger that it will make jobs in the public realm more attractive than private ones.

-Opposes a "right to life" constitutional amendment which would outlaw abortions for any reason, but said he would favor an amendment allowing each state to vote on the matter in-

-Opposed the Trident and B-1 bomber. During the upcoming final weeks of his campaign for the nomination, Symington said he will begin utilizing television and radio appearances. He has refrained from doing so thus far.

The upcoming primary election and the general election this fall both promise to be hard-fought battles, Symington said. He said he feels likely Republican nominee John Danforth will have one advantage because he does not face any major opponents in the

"He has been able to thus conserve his resources," Symington said. "But, I'm looking forward to winning the nomination and in winning in November."

Righter blames the discrepancy on a clerical error, saying Dedrick might have used estimated figures in place of actual figures to determine the department's final balance.

Righter told The Democrat-Capital that his figures were in agreement with Dedrick's through May, when they were last checked. Righter said he learned of the difference in figures during city council budget hearings. He expressed confidence in his figures.

Dedrick explained Thursday he had been informed last week by Righter that the figures did not agree. Righter has not since been back to his office to discuss the matter, he added.

"The last thing I knew, he was going to check it out," Dedrick said. "He hasn't come back to check out any of the dif-

Attempt to steal wire is stopped

One of four Sedalians charged with rape, sodomy and first-degree robbery in connection with an Aug. 9 incident in Pettis County, was granted a continuance to Sept. 21 for his Circuit Court trial.

Judge Frank Meyer granted the continuance Thursday morning at the request of Kenneth Romines, attorney for Gary Staten, 18, 353 West Saline. Romines requested the continuance due to difficulty in obtaining depositions in the case.

Kendis Scorggins, 18, 308 West Pettis, was sentenced to three 25-year concurrent terms in the State Department of Corrections June 28 in Johnson County Circuit Court after pleading guilty to the same three charges.

Two other men were also charged in connection with that incident, the alleged assault and robbery of a young rural Sedalia woman on old Highway 50, west of Sedalia. Terrance Wilson, 18, 364 West Saline, is awaiting trial in Cooper County on a change of venue from Pettis County. No date for his trial has ben set.

17, whose last known address was 409 West Henry, is still being sought by authorities on three charges.

The fourth man, Wayman Roseman,

Staten remains in the county jail in lieu of $50,000 bond. Wilson remains in the Cooper County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Registration drive nets 172 names

An apparent last-minute surge of interest Wednesday resulted in 172 new names being added to the rolls of Pettis County registered voters, County Clerk Mary Jane Wilson reported Thursday.

The deadline for registering to vote in the Aug. 3 primary election was 5 p.m. Wednesday.

While not yet prepared to release a final total on the number of persons now eligible to vote, Mrs. Wilson did note that, as of March 15, a total of 18,137 persons had registered. This is 1,273 more than the 16,864 who were registered to vote in the August, 1974, primary. Mrs. Wilson declined to estimate how many persons have registered since March, saying she preferred to wait until all figures have been tabulated.

The mid-March figure of 18,137 registered voters reflects the following township totals: Blackwater, 205; Bowling Green, 289; Dresden, 272; Elk Fork, 175; Flat Creek, 455; Green Ridge, 474; Heath Creek, 210; Houstonia, 251; Hughesville, 248; Lake Creek, 185; LaMonte, 599; Long Wood, 166; Prairie, 400; Sedalia East, 475; Sedalia West, 261; Smithton, 780 and Washington, 239. The city of Sedalia recorded 12,223 for a combined total of 18,137.

Couple sues as result of auto accident

A Sedalia couple filed suit in Circuit Court Wednesday asking $30,000 damages in connection with a automobile accident which occurred almost one year

Ronald and Diana Rogers, 702 East 18th, filed the action alleging that Robert L. Vail, Route 2, Sedalia, was negligent in the operation of his 1969 Cadillac when it collided with the rear of a 1971 Chevrolet operated by Mrs. Rogers.

According to the suit, the Rogers auto was stopped at a stop sign in the eastbound lane of 16th, near Ohio when the Vail auto struck it in the rear.

The two count suit asks $25,000 damages for Mrs. Rogers for mental and physical injuries allegedly sustained in the mishap and $5,000 for Mr. Rogers for loss of his wife's services.

The board voted several appropriations, authorizing Righter to approve the lowest and best bid to purchase a scoreboard and lowest and best bid to repair the roof of the baseball stadium in Liberty Park. The scoreboard bids range from $14,000 to $17,000, according to Righter and roof repair bids range from $750 to $1100. The scoreboard will be placed in Liberty Stadium

The board authorized the Smith-Cotton Tigers soccer team to play five home games on the Centennial Park soccer field. Khoury League and State Fair Community College also play soccer on

A letter from students of Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Mich., was read to the board announcing the school's donation of $20 to the park department for the planting of a tree.

Students from the school, as part of a bicentennial trip to the west coast, bicycled through Missouri. They wrote that as part of their trip, they were donating a tree to one city in every state they traveled through. They choose Sedalia after spending a night sleeping in Convention Hall.

Police apparently frightened off wouldbe thieves before they could steal 16 rolls of copper wire from Mid-Mo Electric, South Highway 65, about 12:40 a.m. Police reported they found two doors open to the business while looking for the owner of a car parked along the highway. While investigating the apparent break-in, the car left, unnoticed by police. The wire, valued at $300 a roll, was found outside the building by officers. The car, containing four men, was later stopped at 32nd and Stewart. However, police reported they did not have enough evidence to make any arrests. In other police news, a citizens band radio, valued at $140, was stolen from a between 11:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m. Thursday. Vandals were also active in Sedalia Tuesday and Wednesday as a six by eight-foot plate glass window was broken Wednesday afternoon when someone fired a shot through it at Mo-Ox Inc.,

Main and State Fair Blvd. No value was set for the window. Twenty-four grave markers in Crown Hill Cemetery were turned over sometime Tuesday afternoon by vandals. Buddy Moore, caretaker, told police that such occurrences were rare until last month when 47 gravestones were also overturned. The only damage done to the stones was the breaking of an adhesive which holds the stones to their bases in an upright position.

Twister does damage in industry area

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) - A tornado has touched down in an industrial area of Hudson County, ripping walls and roofs from buildings and injuring a worker and a 14-year-old boy.

Linda Garretson, 27, of Jersey City, suffered head and arm injuries Wednesday when the roof collapsed at the C and M Envelope Corp. in Jersey City, where she worked. She was held overnight for observation at the Jersey City Medical Center.

Wayne Gibson, 14, of Bayonne, touched a dangling power line while he was looking at the damage in a railroad yard in Jersey City. He was knocked backwards and his heart stopped beating.

William Mullaney, a 42-year-old retired glazier who was with the boy, pushed the power line out of the boy's hand with a stick. He then began massaging the boy's chest.

Mullaney said after a few minutes the boy's heart began beating and he started to breathe slowly. The youth was taken to the medical center, where he was treated for electrical burns on his stomach. He was listed in satisfactory condition.

The tornado struck the industrial areas along the Hudson River just before noon and then dissipated quickly.

Iren Morello, who watched the tornado from her second floor apartment here, said, "It came so close to the fire escape I just froze. I couldn't move. I thought I was going to be like Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz. It got real quiet, like a vacuum, then the building shook.

The New York-New Jersey metropolitan area is hit by a tornado about once a year, but the National Weather Services says the twisters are less destructive than the bigger ones in the Midwest and South

Expanded debate of raid planned

(AP) - American and other Western diplomats are going to try to expand the Security Council debate on Israel's rescue raid in Uganda into a broad condemnation of terrorism and hijacking.

The debate had been scheduled to begin today, but it was postponed until Friday afternoon to await the arrival of Uganda's Foreign Minister Juan Oris.

But reorganization abolished that agency and created the new Department of Mental Health, which assumed expanded duties and formally became headed by the Mental Health Commission through its director. Reorganization gave the commission control status as it had before.

Danforth noted in his opinion that in reorganizing the mental health operation, the legislature made only specific reference to the former Division of Mental Health concerning the salary for the new department's director. No reference was made to the qualifications that had to be met by the chief of the department.

'The fact that the General Assembly cross referenced to the compensation provisions but did not include the qualifications is conclusive in our view, of a legislative intent not to require the director of the department to be a physician," the opinion said. Danforth also noted that in other cases, the legislature made specific reference to

rather than mere advisory qualifications for other department chiefs. A nationwide search for a permanent successor to Robb is now underway and Hensley, who formerly headed the Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, has said he may be included among the candidates for the job.

Russian grain harvest may approach level of recovery

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) This year's grain harvest in ing up close to the 190-million metric tons predicted in a "highly tentative" forecast by the Agriculture Department last month.

It would mean a major recovery from last year's Soviets will require foreign Soviet crop of 139.9 million grain for some years, intons, the smallest in a decade. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

Restaurateur doesn't plan to shut down

CHARLESTON, W.Va (AP) - For the fifth time in less than a month, Mrs. Hallie Haman's neighborhood restaurant has been broken

The 73-year-old owner has been beaten and robbed but still plans on keeping the restaurant open.

"I haven't made up my mind on what I'm going to do," a distraught Mrs. Haman, the owner of the Corner Restaurant, said. "I want to work. It's just too tiresome to sit around.'

Thieves entered the restaurant Sunday night and made off with $30 in change and more than $200 worth of cigarettes. On June 3, Mrs. Haman was attacked while leaving the restaurant and suffered a broken shoulder and a broken arm, and also lost $500 in cash.

"I couldn't believe they would do it again," she said. "Evidently they watch the police go by and then they break the door down.'

Pettis County children, under 5, offered free screening program

To test all children in Pettis County under five years of age is the goal of the Infant and Child Development Program.

The program is a special federallyfunded segment of the overall program at the Virginia Flower Child Development and Rehabilitation Center with assistance from the Head Start program operated by the Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corporation.

Children will be screened in the areas of speech and language development, motor development and personal-social skills. Attempts to evaluate hearing and vision will also be made. The screening is free to children of Pettis Countians and will take not more than one hour.

Advantages of having a child's development screened at an early age include informing the parent personally of his child's overall development and spotting problems early result in short-term therapy with a high rate of success, it was

Appointments for the screening process, which will be held July 14 or 15, will be made during the following registration periods: 9 to 11 a.m. July 12 at the Buckner Head Start Center, 357 Buckner Court; noon to 3 p.m. July 12 at Wards Memorial parsonage, 412 North Osage; and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. July 13 at the Sedalia Community Center, 314 South Washington.

Study eyes problems of coping with baby

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) Many first-time mothers prepare themselves far better for childbirth than for the child care that comes afterward, a University of Michigan researcher says.

"They take classes, exercise and read technical manuals to prepare for the delivery. But it seems to be assumed that when the infant arrives, natural instinct will take over.

"In reality, the new mother finds she needs a lot of information and especially, reassurance," said Joan Bowker, doctoral candidate in psychology and an instructor at the UM-Dearborn. "At this point, she almost invariably own mother."

This pattern appeared again and again in Mrs. Bowker's study, "The First Baby: Crisis and Coping in the First Three Months." She interviewed 60 women two days after their babies were born and, again, after the first 12 weeks at home. Although they varied widely in age, education level and life styles Mrs. Bowker focused her comparisons on their adjustments to motherhood. Different people play different roles in this transition, she found. Professional instructors are consulted about giving birth; the maternal grandmother is urged to come turns to one resource - her the husband's emotional support is seen as crucial throughout the period.

But the responsibility for a smooth adjustment lies within the women herself, Mrs. Bowker noted.

"The women who were really unhappy during the first three months seldom blamed their babies," the UM researcher said, "but took it out on themselves. One of the things they mentioned most was feeling isolated.

"In many cases, the couple had just moved to a new house or apartment to accommodate the new baby, so they lacked neighborhood ties. Also, the first child tends to accelerate the husband's career striving, after the baby arrives; and so that he may work longer hours away from the home." Most of the women in Mrs. Bowker's study had worked during at least the early months of their pregnancies. Retaining ties with former coworkers and other friends helped alleviate feelings of being cut off from the active "The mothers who made a happier adjustment to infant care had foreseen that the baby would not absorb every moment of their time, and planned ahead to either return to work or to get involved in some hobby, handicraft, or other home activity," Mrs. Bowker said. "They viewed the baby's arrival as an opportunity to expand their lives, rather than limit them." wife, then Bobby's mother,' women an enormous power of decision," Mrs. Bowker observed. "This power is limited only by age. National research shows that most couples who want children want two, and for health reasons, it is advantageous to complete the pregnancies

"To many women, motherhood represents status and accomplishment. But to others, it causes a loss of identity. 'First I became Tom's one women said. 'What happened to me?'

"Mothers no longer merely aim to keep their children 'safe and sound'; they must be intellectually stimulated, and psychologically stable. Even in the first three months they reflected this.

"Furthermore, plan for your own time at home as well as the baby's," she advised.

Mold stows away onboard suitcase

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that the waistbands to pantyhose are so small, even on the queen size ones. This makes one's tummy pop right out and it is most uncomfortable to be squeezed into a tiny waistband. Also, I wonder why manufacturers sew the waist elastic on to slacks. In order to lengthen the elastic that is usually too tight, one has to rip off the entire waistband. Leave that elastic loose, please. -ELLEN.

DEAR READERS and DELORES - As usual our readers have come up with some different ways to solve a problem. Gene wrote that she has three long haired dogs. She finds rubbing a damp sponge over a surface, in one direction only, will roll the dog hair up into a ball that is very easy to pick up with the vacuum or even the hand. Genevieve uses a brush hair roller for removing dog hairs. Isabell, a beauty shop owner, says a puff ball of nylon net is used in her shop to remove hairs from customer's clothing. It seems to work on everything, so she suggests trying it on the dog hairs on Delores' blanket. Thanks to all of you and the many others who sent in answers. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — After emptying jars that have held home canned food, I clean them and instead of storing away until the next canning season I put them to use. Brown beans, dried limas, coconut, macaroni, noodles, walnuts and anything that comes in a bag is put in these jars. They are handier to get to, no more torn bags to spill things and they are airtight and protected when the lid is

Those plastic trays that meat comes on from the market are great for carrying cakes, candy, etc. to friends, kids' parties at school and so on. I also use them to hold many things when going on a picnic. No more worrying about lost dishes. -REBA

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY - Could you tell me how to get mildew or mold out of my suitcase .. - LULA.

DEAR LULA - Luggage should always be stored in a dry place so as to prevent this condition. At the first sign of mildew, wash off with warm water and soap and then dry well. Since you have had yours for a time, take out of doors and dry thoroughly. Then brush off any loose mold with a paper towel slightly dampened with denatured alcohol. Sometimes just rubbing with vinegar will do the job. -POLLY.

Program offers guidelines to parents on how to raise well-adjusted children

Medical College and the New York Junior League, is designed to help teach parents how to raise well-adjusted children.

The program has been exploring ways to prevent emotional, social and learning disabilities in children by helping parents provide positive experiences and environments for their children during the first three critical years of life.

The program is being conducted by a child psychiatrist, two psychologists, a sociologist and other professionals and paraprofessionals from the medical college, along with 65 trained Junior League volunteers.

Weekly daytime sessions with small groups of parents and their babies from the age of four weeks have been held at the Early Childhood ample, if it's a great ac-Development Center, with more than 60 pairs of parents and their children participating. Findings from the program are already adding to current knowledge of early childhood development, according to Dr. Richard E. Brotman, executive director of the Department of Community Mental Health of New York Medical College. Dr. Brotman suggests these parenting:

Try to be responsive to a child's needs. Crying, for ex- please. ample, is an infant's only language - the only way to ing is that it wants some warmth or affection.

When the child is responded to, he learns that there are people around him who are going to take care of him. He develops trust in his environment. If a parent does not respond to a child's cry, he fails to learn that trust. He will make lesser attachments to the people around him. This can affect his emotional health in later life.

- Parents should demonstrate their approval and pleasure. It is important for parents to understand a child's capabilities at different ages, so that they can expect appropriate reactions and can then stimulate a child appropriately, at different stages of its development, with their approval. As an excomplishment for a young child merely to pick up a block in one hand and pass it to the other hand, recognize this and applaud it. Don't expect him to build a large tower.

If the expectation of a parent is for a child to perform beyond its ability, a parent can often - even silently convey disapproval and disappointment. Obviously this can be harmful to a child's selfguidelines for sensible confidence, can reduce his self-image and make him feel that he's seldom able to

If a child gets attention for his "bad" behavior, this type of behavior can, thereby, be encouraged as an attentiongetting device. It's better to acknowledge good behavior and, sometimes, to decide not to reprimand minor examples of bad behavior.

—Do set limits and goals. Tell a child clearly what he proval, and setting goals, helps not only to build a sense of morals, but is also tremendously important for his later achievement in school, in work and in life. It is important to develop and strengthen the drive to do things for approval.

-Be consistent. The role of both parents in raising a child is vital. It is essential that mother and father carefully

-Children are not "employes." That is to say, parents can't manage their children the way one runs an office. Although adults might expect to be able to tell business subordinates what to do - and have it done quickly, and well - young children often cannot follow a series of demands or orders. They need time to be able to develop and perfect their own ways of doing things, in their own time.

Farmer's wife more than a cook -- she's a business partner

By DAVE BARTEL Associated Press Writer

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) Emerging from the cattle pen, Jonny Scott kicked the dirt from her boots and brushed off her blue slacks

"The fields are too muddy to work in, so I'm just helping my husband get things cleaned up a little," she said, the bright Kansas sunshine glinting from her sunglasses.

Cleaning cattle pens may seem a most unfeminine task, but Jonny Scott's labors on this spring day are a small indicator of the expanding roles women are playing down on

Mrs. Scott, a petite woman in her mid-30s, is a farmer's daughter and a farmer's wife. She also considers herself a farmer and a partner with her husband Norman, better known as Butch, in the family enterprise-1,000 acres of wheat, milo and a small cattle herd.

In her three decades from childhood to wife and mother of two teen-age girls, Mrs. Scott has been part of a slow revolution in which many farm women have moved from tending a garden and feeding the chickens to driving a tractor and sharing in the daily decisions of modern agriculture.

"I was one of five girls and we never went near the machinery." she says. "My mother never did field work She had a big garden and some chickens, but her activities were centered around the home.

It's a different story for Jonny Scott, one of about 500,000 women helping produce the nation's food. She also is an emerging female farmer who is at home in the seat of a tractor as in her kitchen.

"I do some of the plowing and cultivating, help spread fertilizer and run a combine or truck during harvest," she says. "Planting, I don't do. Butch likes the rows straight as an arrow and the way I drive a tractor just doesn't do

She also is bookkeeper, cook, homemaker, seamstress and a kind of Jane-of-alltrades in the demanding world of farming and ranching.

The 1970 census indicated women made up about 10 per cent of the farm work force, but the U.S. Department of Labor estimates last year nearly 16 per cent of all farm

"I don't think there is any doubt that women are taking a bigger role in agriculture these days," said Frank Carpenter, associate dean of the Kansas State University College of Agriculture.

Man says queen owes $135,000

JACKSONVILLE, Fla (AP) - Henri J. d'Orgelys, a local contractor, says Queen Elizabeth II owes his family $135,000 plus interest for four centuries. He estimates the total at more than $1 billion.

D'Orgelys, 74, said in a newspaper interview that he'd like to bring the debt to the attention of the queen, who is visiting the United States to help mark the 200th anniversary of the country's independence.

He said his ancestor, Alvaro Mendes, loaned Queen Elizabeth I 300,000 crowns in the 16th Century and the debt was never repaid.

He added, though, that he isn't seriously trying to collect.

HEW's latest order goes a bit too far

"The law," says one of Charles Dickens' characters, "is an ass." As far as the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is concerned, that may well be a serious understate-

Bike law repealed

The City Council has repealed its controversial bicycle ordinance in the face of negative public opinion.

As we said here earlier, we're certain the ordinance was drawn up with the best of intentions. But the new provision calling for mandatory registration just didn't go over well with many bike owners, who resented being forced to do something that was mainly for their own personal breakfasts, fashion shows, athletic banquets, etc., that are limited to one sex.

The sex discrimination provision is part of Title 9 of the 1972 Education Act, which recently became effective and has played havoc in numerous school systems across the country. But surely this must be one of its most ridiculous interpretations.

(To his credit, President Ford suspended the HEW order Wednesday. He said he would ask Congress, if necessary, to change the law to permit such activities.)

Father-son and motherdaughter affairs are a fixture in many schools (not in Sedalia, however), and reaction from some of these to HEW's decree has been less than enthusiastic.

"I wonder where the end is," was the comment of Dr. Ira King, compliance officer for the Scottsdale system. (The fact that we must have such things as "compliance officers" should tell us something about the state of federal control of education today.)

The overweening power of the federal government is supposed to be one of the issues in this year's campaign. We could ask for no finer example than this of Big Brotherism in action.

WASHINGTON - A Los Angeles scrap-metal magnate has brought pressure on U.S. authorities to admit Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang, the former notorious South Vietnamese intelligence chief, into the United States.

The metals magnate, Sam Jaffe, has offered Quang a job with his corporation; Stelex International. According to confidential government memos, Jaffe explained that he wanted the controversial Quang because of his political connec-Quang's skills in the art of corruption are well-documented. He was associated in Saigon with heroin smuggling, extortion and torture. He sold exit visas, for example, to panicky South Vietnamese refugees trying to flee ahead of the Communists. One refugee has told of a $10,000 payment that Quang extorted.

These charges have been largely substantiated by the Canadian government, which now has Quang on its hands. He has been ordered deported as an 'undesirable person," with permission to remain in Canada only until he can find another country that will take him.

High obstacles confront third parties

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON - The way of transgressors is hard sayeth the Good Book, and the author of Proverbs might have been addressing his wisdom to third-party candidates who transgress the twoparty system. Running for president as a Democrat or Republican is no easy jog. but running as an independent is like running inside a potato sack.

Paul H. Blackman pells out the difficulties in a little book just published by the Heritage Foundation, "Third Party President? His comprehensive study of confusing state requirements has a particular interest

Kilpatrick this year. If things go really badly for the Republicans, Blackman's manual may become a little bible for new-party promoters between now and 1980. By every indication, our two-party system is in trouble. The principal reasons have been examined many times. The growth of a professional civil service has nullified the devices of party patronage. Television has eclipsed the organizing of a rally in the park. Public financing of presidential elections has weakened the party's fund-raising func-

Whatever the reasons may be, a general disenchantment has developed. The pollsters' findings vary, but roughly 42 per cent of the voters consider themselves Democrats and only 18 to 20 per cent identify with the Republicans. The rest are independents, and among voters 18 to 25, more than half are independents. On paper, at least, it appears that a time is approaching for some basic realignment.

In terms of the presidency (and that is Blackman's only concern in his monograph), this means we must look to state laws and regulations governing new-party access to the ballot. The Constitution provides, with apparent clarity, that the naming of a president is not a national function, but a state function: "Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors..." The power of Congress to make or to alter state regulations is plainly limited to the times, places and manner of holding elections "for Senators and Representatives" on-

Until this fundamental structure is altered by constitutional amendment, the power of the states will continue. The effective emergency of new parties therefore will depend upon the willingness of the 50 state legislatures to attack the problem of ballot access. I count myself a Tenth Amendment conservative: I love diversity I hate uniformity. But looking at Blackman's compendium of state election laws, I am minded to say: This is ridiculous. In the past hundred years, third-party candidates have won electoral votes in only five elections. The wonder is that third parties have done so well. A candidate such as Eugene Mc-

Carthy, for example, must master 50 different requirements for the filing of petitions. In some states, the number of signatures is low; in some it is high. Here the signatures must be notarized; there they must be obtained by counties or congressional districts. Filing deadlines vary enormously. Filing fees are high and low. State laws on challenges are a swamp of ambiguity. Plainly, each of the states has gone its own untrammeled way. This is constitutional; it is also

It is conceivable that Congress might seek to impose uniformity through some device that would circumvent the Constitution. For example, the granting of "federal aid" might be conditioned upon each state's enactment of a model law. But Blackman is no friend to such exotrtion, nor am I. Besides, the Democrats and Republicans in Congress are no more likely to make life easier for newparty competitors than their counterparts in state capitals.

But it would be a mistake cynically to assume bad faith in legislative halls. Without damage to the principle of diversity, the states voluntarily could move toward greater uniformity on petitions, fees, filing deadlines, and the like. The process should not be made too easy; otherwise we would have ballots cluttered with the names of merely frivolous candidates. But the process ought to be simplified. This is a pregnant time for the birth of new parties. In the name of a free society, we ought not to see them strangled in the womb.

Convention still has circus air

NEW YORK (AP) - The Democrats are doing their darndest not to make a circus out of their convention next week, but the smell of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey lingers on. Literally.

Their nominee will await his introduction as "the next President of the United States," in a concrete block locker room used normally by sweaty basketball players.

And the delegates themselves will be sitting on an ice rink

These circumstances are dictated by the Democrats' choice of New York as their convention city. New York, Big Apple though it is, lacks the convention centers of a San Francisco, Miami Beach or Chicago. No Cow Palace

Instead there is Madison Square Garden, a nice compact little place that seats a shade more than 20,000 people at best, isn't on Madison Square, and surely is no garden

Turning the hall into an arena for a political convention was the job of a firm headed by Raymond R. Hertler. who says he's voted Democratic sometimes.

With $1.4 million to spend. Hertler and his staff designed the convention hall down to the last camera stand and then coordinated the efforts of 80 to 90 firms that had something to do with building

"We anticipated a real rat race," he said. "But no, it was real calm. No major setbacks. No major labor problems. We worried about those big unknowns. But we were able to accomplish what you see here without substantial overtime.

By then, the place looked about 90 per cent ready. The podium lacked only the convention emblem, a thorough vacuuming, and the mums that will grace it when the delegates begin filing in for the 8 p.m. EDT opening

The transformation began June 1, a day after the circus left the garden. Out came 2,000 fixed seats on one side. In went benches for reporters covering the convention.

Murder trial is delayed

BLOOMFIELD, Mo. (AP) The trial of Dr. Norman A. Garrison Jr. for the 1974 murder of his former wife has been delayed by the disqualification of the judge assigned to hear the case.

At the request of Garrison's lawyers, Stoddard County Circuit Judge Flake L. McHaney disqualified himself Wednesday and then appointed Butler County Circuit Judge Rex A. Henson to preside over the case.

There was no indication when Henson would set a trial date for the 34-year-old Corinth, Miss., physician, charged with the Sept. 8, 1974, murder of Lee Ann Garrison, whose body was found in the Garrisons' Kennett home.

Garrison's attorneys requested McHaney's disqualification because the judge had presided over other matters involving Garrison in the past.

McHaney was the presiding judge when Garrison and his wife were divorced in January 1974, eight months before Mrs. Garrison's death.

A change in venue from Dunklin County to Stoddard County was granted June 23. Garrison had earlier waived formal arraignment and pleaded innocent to a charge of first-degree murder.

Garrison, who appeared at the session, remained free on $75,000 bond and returned to his Mississippi home.

The physician was charged with the murder on the day the body was discovered. For almost two years, he fought extradition to Missouri, finally ending his legal battle last May after the Mississippi Supreme Court and a federal district judge rejected pleas to block extradition.

The push suit

By ERMA BOMBECK

If you ever hear that I jumped into a jump suit, don't believe it. I was pushed.

This has to be the Brand X of the fashion industry.

There are only six women in this country who look well in jump suits. Five of them are terminal and the other was sired by a Xerox machine.

Our of sheer curiosity, I was rummaging through a rack of them when a saleswoman approached and asked, "Which size are you? 12? 14? 16?"

'Yes," I said. 'Which?" she pursued.

"All three. My bust is a 12, my waist a 14, and my hips

'Try the 14," she said dryly. The fitting room is behind better dresses.

The fitting room was something I had never seen before. It was a community deal . . . a large room with 16 mirrors on the wall, a rack in the center to hang discards and a woman by the door to make sure you didn't wear out any more than than you wore

A fitting room to me has always been like a confessional - where my body and my contrition take up the entire room. There is no room for anyone else. I looked around. All eyes seemed to be focused on one woman. She weighed six pounds and was trying on a jump suit . . . one of the six women mentioned above. It slid on easily, up

Sprint drivers begin chase for huge purse

The Second-annual Missouri Sprint Nationals, a three-day affair that carries a $15,000 purse, kicks off tonight at 7 p.m. in front of the Grandstand on the Missouri State Fairgrounds with hot-

A field of from 80-90 cars is expected for the event, which is being promoted by Hassler and Associates Racing Enterprises, Inc., of Fulton, Mo.

Of the pre-race entries received by Dale Hassler, president of the promoting body, veterans Dick Sutcliffe, Johnny Suggs, Ralph Blackett, Chuck Amati and Eddie Leavitt loom as possibles for the rich 35-lap A-feature, which will conclude the three-day event Saturday night.

Rumors continue to fly about Bill Utz of Sedalia, who said he was going to retire from racing at the end of last season. But Utz, a two-time International Motor Contest Association sprint car king, came out of that retirement (at least temporarly) Sunday night at Marshall's Saline County Speedway and zipped to the checker in the feature event.

Hassler said Wednesday that Utz would neither confirm nor deny his intentions to race in the Missouri Sprint Na-

The first two nights of the show, Thursday and Friday, will be set aside for time trials, qualifying heat races and a feature event for non-qualifiers. Forty or more cars are expected to take their time trials tonight when racing action opens at 8 p.m. In addition, four qualifying heat races will be held under the lights tonight as well as a non-qualifiers feature. The same program will be held for the drivers who want to qualify

The top three finishers in each heat, both tonight and Friday, will qualify for Saturday night's A-feature, which will see the winner pick up $2,000 of the total purse. The fourth, fifth and sixth finishers will earn spots in Saturday's Bfeature, while the seventh-ninth finishers will go into the C-feature, also scheduled for Saturday night.

Looking at some of the top names in the field, Sutcliffe has seven national titles to his credit and has won a number of track championships at Topeka, Kan., and Knoxville, Iowa.

Suggs, one of a number of drivers entered from the state of Texas, was the 1976 Shreveport (La.) Nationals champ. During that event, he won the E, D, C and B-features and was running fifth in the main event, when he had to retire from the field with mechanical problems.

Leavitt, who heads a long list of drivers from Missouri, hales from Kearney and won the 1975 Knoxville (Iowa) Supermodified National Championship.

Blackett, Des Moines, Iowa, just recently climbed back into the cockpit of his sprinter from a serious accident at last year's Missouri State Fair. Blackett, who was leading in the IMCA points race last year when he came to the Fair, suffered two broken legs and a broken arm in the accident. He was sidelined for the balance of the campaign and only started driving again about five weeks ago.

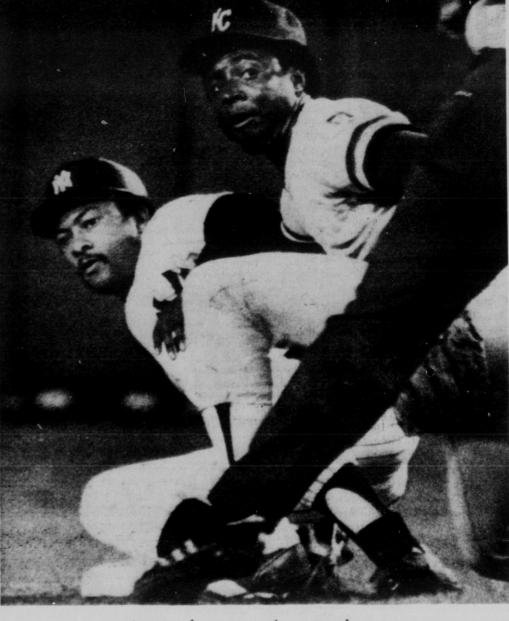

Blackett has to his credit a third-place finish in the IMCA point standings last Amati, who claims to have won possibly more feature events on short dirt tracks than anyone else in America, is the 1976 IMCA Winternationals sprint champion. In 1972, he finished second in the IMCA's season point race. He currently leads in the seasonal points race at two tracks in the Midwest.

One of the big names from the central-Missouri area is Gary Scott of Holts Summit. Scott was last year's overall point champion at the Missouri Sprint Nationals. He has four feature victories to his credit at Capital Speedway near Jefferson City and is head-and-shoulders above any other driver in the season's points race.

Among the other top drivers in the field are Rick Ferkel of Tiffin, Ohio; Gene Gennetten, Parkville, Mo.; Tom Corbin, Carrollton: Bobby Marshall, Dallas, Tex.; and Cliff "Woody" Woodward of Kearney, Mo., who won one of the two feature events a year ago at the Missouri Nationals.

Hassler said Wednesday that the tickets for tonight's event, as well as for the other two nights will be on sale at 5 p.m. each evening on the Fairgrounds.

Free cage clinics open Saturday

The Sedalia Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. and the National Basketball Association will sponsor a number of Saturday clinics called a hotshot program, beginning this week at four locations in Sedalia.

The program is free to all boys and girls between the ages of 9-18. However, high school varsity basketball players will not be allowed to participate.

The competition, which will be held on Saturday mornings at Liberty Park and Hubbard Park and Saturday afternoons at Housel and Vermont Parks. is a race against the clock to score points by shooting from five different spots around the

The clinics will open this Saturday. The schedule calls for Liberty Park, 9 a.m.; Hubbard Park, 10:30 a.m.; Housel Park, 1 p.m.; and Vermont Park, 2:30 p.m.

Once the competition begins, local winners will be eligible to advance their way toward the national finals, which according to the Sedalia Park and Recreation Department, will be televised nationally

Grid Cardinals sign No. 1 pick

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The St. Louis Cardinals announced today the signing of firstround draft choice Mike Dawson, a defensive tackle to a series of one-year contracts.

Terms and the duration of the contract were not revealed by the Cards, who will open their training camp Saturday in defense of the National Conference East Division title in the National Football League.

Dawson, 6-foot-4 and 270, is currently with the College AllStars squad.

Montefusco, who pitched seven innings, has lost three games and been involved in two no-decisions since his last victory June 11 against the New York Mets.

Against the Cardinals, the 26-year-old right-hander allowed four hits, one earned run and struck out six before being lifted when a blister developed on his middle

"I didn't want to crack it too far," said Montefusco, 7-8, the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1975. "I wanted to go to the All-Star Game. I felt kind of bad that guys like Jim Barr over there, who has a better ERA, wasn't chosen. But the managers make those decisions. I'm pretty happy I'm going.

With six days rest before the All-Star Game, Montefusco said he felt the blistered finger, which he first opened up two weeks ago, would be sufficiently recovered.

But the finger has been only a part of his problems during the past month. His chief difficulty, doctors told him after an examination two weeks ago, was a lack of rest.

'The doctors told me I was run down," he said. "They said to stop doing my TV talk show and a lot of the promotional work I was doing for the Giants. I felt weak. I didn't have the killer instinct I used to have.

Rigney ordered the end of the San Francisco talk show and Montefusco said he is now beginning to feel the effects of slowing down.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the 12 of the last 13 midseason battle between longtime games, including last year's 6-All-Stars Rod Carew and Carl 3 decision. Yastrzemski, someone had to give. It was Yastrzemski.

Carew, a fixture at second base for the American League All-Star team the past nine years, had kept second baseman Bobby Grich of Baltimore on the also-ran list.

Now he's doing the same thing to Yastrzemski, another nine-time All-Star veteran.

Carew, the AL's top hitter the past four years, moved from second base to first base this year, and when the All-Star results were announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, Boston's Yastrzemski was off the team.

Carew, of Minnesota, who now has made the AL's starting team each year he has been in the major leagues, collected 1,770,998 votes. Yastrzemski received 1.403.557 votes

Catcher Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees joined Carew as the only All-Star repeater on the AL's starting team, which will face the National League All-Stars Tuesday night at Philadelphia. The AL has lost SOUTHPORT, England AP) - Johnny Miller fired four birdies on the last six holes today for a four-underfar 68 and took the early second-round lead in the British Open Golf Championship with a 36-hole total of 140.

Two strokes back was Hubert Green who shot a twounder par 70 to go with an

Meanwhile, the overnight leaders-Christy O'Connor Jr. of Ireland, Norio Suzuki of Japan and Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, who had 69s-were making little or no headway against Miller's 140.

O'Connor was having an in-and-out game. He started badly with a bogey-five on the first but got that stroke back and turned at par-34. But a bogey-five on the 10th followed by a double-bogey-five two holes later put him in trouble and, although he birdied the 13th, he was only one ahead of par with four holes to go.

Suzuki, the surprise of the first day, also started to fade. He dropped a stroke on the third, another on the sixth and yet another the next hole to drop three strokes to par and level out four strokes behind Miller by the seventh.

The 19-year-old Ballesteros managed par on the first three holes, then he, too, dropped a stroke on the short fourth.

Miller, who shot a par-72 Wednesday over the 7,001yard Royal Birdale Course, made the turn today in par-34. He also matched par on each of the first three holes on the back nine on the dry, hard links, then sizzled home.

The blond U.S. pro birdied the par-five No. 13 and the par-two 14th. Then, after pars on the No. 15 and No. 16, the closed with pair of birdie-fours.

holes that wiped out a second-hole bogey-five.

After the turn, he bogeyed the 11th, then birdied the next two before taking a diastrous double-bogey-seven on the par-five, 542-yard 15th. But on the last two holes- both par fives-he produced two more birdies for a one-under-par 37 and his 70.

Four strokes back was favored Jack Nicklaus, a two-time British Open champion, who shot 70 to go with an opening-round 74. Nicklaus birdied No. 8 to go out in 33. Jack, who had complained Wednesday about the condition of the greens and the pin placements, got the birdie with a 40-foot putt.

Then he dropped a couple of strokes with two bogeys on the first three holes on the back nine but picked them up on with birdies on the 13th and

A Wyoming reader wants to know if a player who responds two clubs to his partner's oneheart opening promises another bid.

The answer is that he does not do so in standard American or in the very similar Jacoby modern. But some expert pairs play that the two-over-one response does promise another bid and a very few even play it as a game force.

Amin role is claimed

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) Diplomats say President Idi Amin aided the hijackers of the Air France jetliner from the beginning - and the Israeli raid freeing the hostages demonstrated that his claims of military invincibility were a myth.

"Now Amin is naked, there are cracks in his image," said one Westerner. "There have already been several attempts to overthrow him. Now those Ugandans who feel that way are going to take an even closer look at things.

"The next few months could be crucial for Amin.

Quoting reports from the hostages and from other evewitnesses in Uganda, the diplomats gave these details of Amin's cooperation with the Palestinian and West German terrorists who brought the French airliner and more than 250 hostages to Entebbe on June 28:

Only four terrorists were aboard the plane when it was hijacked. Three or four others were waiting for the plane when it landed in Uganda.

For 24 hours after the arrival at Entebbe Airport, the hijackers disappeared, presumably to sleep. Ugandan soldiers guarded the hostages.

The Ugandans supplied machine guns and grenades to the hijackers. The terrorists also used walkie-talkies of the same model as those used by the Ugandan army

The hijackers occasionally gave orders to Ugandan soldiers, and the Ugandans carried them out.

'Ugandan cooperation was total," one diplomat said. "We can't say what was going on in Amin's mind, but all his so-called negotiations to get the terrorists to release 148 of the hostages - they looked like pure theater.

The diplomats said Israel did not consult the Kenyan government officially prior to the commando raid last Saturday night. Other sources said President Jomo Kenyatta learned of the raid for the first time Sunday morning, after it was over.

But other reliable sources said lower-level Kenyan officials apparently turned a blind eye to preparations in Kenya for the raid. They said a small number of Israeli agents arrived in Nairobi during the week after the hijacking, and local officials must have noticed them.

The three Israeli planes that carried the raiders came in across Ethiopia and crossed only a small part of northwest Kenya, diplomats said. But other sources said a fourth plane with civilian markings brought Israeli medical personnel to Nairobi Saturday night before the raiders reached Entebbe.

"The landing of the three planes at Nairobi on the way back from Entebbe can be explained on humanitarian grounds since they were carrying wounded persons who needed emergency treatment at the airport," a Kenyan observer said. "But the fourth plane could be embarrassing.

Single-sex events fire wrath of women's group

WASHINGTON (AP) - A discrimination in public federal ban on schoolsponsored mother-daughter and father-son events irritated President Ford so much that he ordered it rescinded. But a women's group says such functions perpetuate sexual stereotypes and should be eliminated. Ford ordered a study to determine if single-sex social events violate federal sex discrimintion laws, as alleged by the civil rights office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

White House spokesman Ron Nessen said Wednesday that Ford was irritated when he read of the ruling banning single-sex school events.

The HEW ruling was in response to an inquiry from the Scottsdale, Ariz., public schools, which sponsor fatherson banquets and motherdaughter teas. Scottsdale officials wanted to know whether the events violated the laws prohibiting sex schools

Officially, the ruling issued last week was suspended pending research by lawyers to determine whether Title IX of the Civil Rights Act is violated by such events.

Nessen said that if it is found that the law is being violated. Ford would immediately send legislation to Congress to change the law.

The National Organization for Women took opposition to Ford's stand. "We are watching Title IX being nickled and dimed to death," charged Lynda Weston, a NOW staff member. Dividing the sexes for school-sponsored fashion shows, softball games, banquets and breakfasts is a tradition in many communities. What happens is you get the girls together with the moms and you have teas and awards for sewing and fashion shows. You get the boys and dads together and you have and give rousing speeches,' the NOW official said.

Other opponents argue such affairs are unfair to children with only one parent.

Ford phoned HEW Secretary David Mathews and 'expressed displeasure at the ruling," said Nessen. "The President advised the secretary that he cannot believe that it was the intent of Congress to prohibit motherdaughter or father-son eyents at schools.

Nancy Low, spokeswoman for the civil rights office, said that after a five-month study the office determined that such events were prohibited by the antidiscrimination law.

"Arbitrary separation of the sexes is not permitted," she said.

Mathews, disclosing that HEW planned no enforcement action regarding the events during its review, said the department "will advise any school wishing to have such events to proceed.

Alternate energy sources still can't compete with oil oil embargo — power from the free us from foriegn oil dependence. What's happened since the Arabs turned the oil back on? This first of two articles on energy alternatives brings things up to date.

By TERRY KIRKPATRICK AP Business Writer

It is possible today to warm your home at night with heat from the sun, run your car on a fuel made from wheat or power your electric toothbrush with the wind. It's all possible, but unlikely to happen any time soon.

Since the oil embargo in late 1973, and the sudden jump in oil prices that followed, the dream of a cheap, clean and unlimited supply of energy has led a handful of people to build solar collectors on their roofs, install methane-burning engines in their cars or erect windmills in their backyards.

And millions of dollars have been poured into research and development of these alternative energy sources since American motorists first waited an hour in line to buy

Colon problem may be the cause

Dear Dr. lamb — I have had my gall bladder removed but have had terrible gas pains ever since. I try to do the things the doctors advocate eat less at a time, eat slowly without gulping, etc. but I still have a lot of trouble. My doctor says don't eat roughage. I have curtailed it but need a certain amount so that I don't get constipated.

I wonder if the same diet that helps when your gall bladder is not at peak function would work for me? I am getting to the point where my social life is curtailed because of this. Could you give me any pointers which could help me? Dear Reader — Gas pains may not be from gall bladder problems at all. Almost everyone has gas but with normal digestive functions most people are totally unaware of it. The pain usually comes from the gas being trapped in the colon bends, it stretches or distends the colon and causes pain. If the spasm in the colon relaxes, the gas is no longer trapped and the distention and pain disappear.

Your comment about "roughage" makes me think you have an underlying colon problem, specifically a spastic colon. These types of complaints are often there before a person has a gall bladder operation and may even be confused with symptoms of gall bladder disease. When that is the case they will still rupted normal pattern of living. And symptoms may follow an illness that has affected the bowels, such as infectious gastroenteritis (food poisoning).

Most everyone swallows air. You can't prevent it and swallow food and water. Some people do develop a nervous habit of swallowing lots of air and may not be aware of it. Air trapped in the stomach then causes burping and an immediate sense of fullness when you eat. Other people form gas, often because they lack enzymes normally in the intestines. That results in the double sugar lactose can also cause this problem. You can check to see if you are swallowing too much air by holding an eraser between your teeth. That will make swallowing more difficult and will alert you to the problem. It is a good way to help break the habit.

Also I think you should eliminate all milk and all milk products (including milk chocolate bars and milk used in cooking) to see if that is your real problem. It may be a temporary problem in view of your recent operation. You be there after surgery. Symptoms may follow condition. (NEA) surgery because of the intersolar, geothermal and synthetic fuel energy in the next evitable transformation to the decade. One estimate, by the Federal Energy Administration, is that they will supply only about 1 per cent of the total energy demand in 1985.

For the most part, the technology needed to replace some of the limited oil with unlimited sun or wind is there. The holdup barring their widespread use is economic: although the world price of crude oil has quadrupled in the past three years, it is still cheaper than most of the alternatives, say government and energy industry experts.

And some industry projects to produce a synethetic gas from coal or wring oil from shale rock, which were begun in earnest shortly after the embargo, sit idle.

"I think that the real barriers are market development, user education, availability of capital and manpower.

For markets to function, buyers need to be aware of what is available. John M. Teem, who recently resigned as the government's chief of solar, geothermal and advanced energy systems, says there should be a greater federal role in stimulating the use of solar heating and cooling and the dissemination of information.

"I fear that without this stimulation, the private sector will not achieve the early commercial market development of solar energy which is needed," he said.

With enough buyers to support mass production, prices could come down. Lindmayer said solar cells, used almost exclusively for space projects just two years ago, have dropped to one-tenth the price , since then as they have been put to use on earth.

'These changes are actually so dramatic that most individuals and organizations have not yet fully recognized this new situation," he said.

But estimates of the cost of such collectors range from $4,-400 to $8,000. It would take 10 to 20 years to pay for them with savings in utility bills, depending on whether they replace expensive electrical heating or cheaper oil or gas.

"Anyone buying electricity today and paying more than four or five cents a kilowatt hour is better off on economic grounds with a solar collector," Shrier says. "The problem is it has a large up-front cost. If you've got the money, that's fine. Most consumers

A low-quality gas, called town gas, is produced in other nations and was produced in this country before the advent of natural gas pipelines.

"We hear a great deal of talk about the need to develop new technology for coal conversion," R. R. Breckenfeld of Shell Oil Co. said. "The real problem is not the availability of technology, but that the technology that is available is too expensive.

Its product would have to sell for $18 to $22 a barrel, compared with imported oil now costing $12 to $13 a barrel.

Pat Nixon suffers stroke, in hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Former first lady Pat Nixon was reported in serious condition Thursday after suffering a stroke which has left her with "slight slurring" of speech and weakness in her face, arm and leg.

"I think she will walk, she may not walk normally," said Dr. John Mosier, a neurologist called to Mrs. Nixon's bedside at Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach.

"If the stroke doesn't get any worse, she's not going to die. If it gets worse, well, people do die from strokes," said Mosier at a news briefing about two hours after the 64-year-old wife of former President Richard M. Nixon was

Pressures in her life "certainly could have been a contributing factor" toward her illness, Mosier said.

Both President Ford and his rival for the Republican presidential nomination, Ronald Reagan, called Nixon about 6

Inflation was described as "still public enemy No. 1" for persons aged 65 and over in the annual report of the Special Committee on Aging.

The Republican minority of the committee conceded that the nation's 23 million persons over 65 have "many unmet needs in income, housing, job opportunities, health care, nutrition, recreation, education and transportation" but said "important progress" has been made during the past year in fighting the rising cost of living.

The minority cited a 12.2 per cent incalled the life of many elderly persons a crease in the Consumer Price Index between December 1973 and December 1974 compared with a 6.1 per cent increase from March 1975 to March 1976.

through excessive federal spending. They said it can be controlled only by "a new congressional commitment to sound and reasonable priorities for federal spending programs.

In addition to twice-a-year adjustments in Social Security and supplemental security income payments, the committee majority recommended a change in formula to reflect actual spending patterns of older persons.

The elderly spend proportionately more than younger persons on food, shelter and medical care.

The report says average health care costs for persons over 65 are three times with Medicare covering only about 38 per cent of expenses.

It recommended the "timel" closing of Medicare coverage gaps for eyeglasses, hearing aids, dentures, out-of-hospital prescription drugs, physical checkups, and homemaker services, and that the number of reimbursable home health visits be increased from 100 to 200. Fluoridation issue up to Water Board

The decision to fluoridate Sedalia's water supply rests solely with the Water Board, not the City Council, it was learned Wednesday night.

A letter from Robert S. Miller of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources presented at the Water Board meeting Wednesday stipulated that a City Council ordinance is not necessary to implement a fluoridation program here.

Water Board members said, however, they would wait for the results of a special public opinion ballot before taking action on the issue.

In an April, 1972, opinion ballot on the fluoridation proposal, the measure was defeated by 145 votes, 2,527 to 2,382.

The July 2 letter says fluoridation equipment, offered free of charge to the city by the Missouri Division of Health, "is for installation at the request of the local water purveyor.

Water department manager Herb Taylor said he misunderstood an earlier letter from Miller which said an ordinance must be passed before the equipment could be obtained and installed. "I thought that 'ordinance' meant City Council ordinance," he said. "All it means is that the Water Board must approve it."

Taylor said that now the Water Board alone can accept the offer, but stated it would take no action before reviewing the results of a special advisory ballot Aug. 3, drafted to gauge public opinion.

The July 2 letter further states, "It (fluoridation equipment is available where responsible public officials have authorized its installation and will agree to operate and maintain the equipment."

Calls for congressional reform

Thomas Curtis endorses King

By RON JENNINGS Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

In town Thursday to endorse Independence Mayor Richard King for the Republican Fourth District congressional nomination, former U.S. Rep. Thomas Curtis, Clayton, Mo., told a small group of GOP candidates and supporters that congressional, rather than executive, reform should be the primary theme of this fall's election campaigns.

King, one of two Republicans seeking the congressional nomination, is qualified to serve as a reformer in the House of Representatives, Curtis said, "because in contrast to his Democratic and Republican opponents, (he) has been on the receiving end of laws, rules and regulations from Washington during his tenure as mayor of Independence.

Curtis recently resigned as head of the Federal Election Commission and, as a Ronald Reagan supporter, will lead the

Israeli widow's fate a mystery

By The Associated Press

Fears grew Thursday for the safety of a 75-year-old British-Israeli widow reported left behind in a Ugandan hospital when Israeli commandos freed other hostages.

The British ambassador to Uganda, James Hennessy, asked urgently to see Ugandan President Idi Amin about the woman's fate, the British Foreign Office in London said.

Dora Bloch, a Tel Aviv resident with dual citizenship, was reported left behind last Sunday when Israeli commandos raided Entebbe Airport and rescued more than 100 hostages from pro-Palestinian hijackers. Three hostages, one Israeli officer and all the terrorists were killed, along with an estimated 20 Ugandan soldiers.

Mrs. Bloch's son, Ilan Hartuv, appealed to Amin to send his mother home. Hartuv was a passenger with his mother when the plane was hijacked and he was rescued and returned to Tel Aviv by the Israeli commandos

Mrs. Bloch, who was traveling on a British passport, had been taken to a Kampala hospital two days before the raid when a piece of food stuck in her

A British diplomat visited her in the hospital 12 hours after the Israeli raid, but was denied admission when he returned an hour later with food for her. a Foreign Office spokesman said.

The Foreign Office said it could not confirm a report that Mrs. Bloch was dragged screaming from her hospital bed by four men Sunday night. Another son, Daniel Bloch, an Israeli journalist in New York, said there were such reports.

Bloch appealed on an American television show to heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali to intercede with Amin on his mother's behalf. Bloch said he understood Ali was "a good friend" of Amin. Ali was not immediately available for comment. Mrs. Bloch was going to Bloch's wedding scheduled Sunday in New York when the plane was hijacked. Ugandan officials claim she was discharged from the hospital and had rejoined the other hostages at the airport before the commando rescue mission.

An official Uganda radio broadcast said Uganda ceased to be responsible for the hostages from the moment the Israelis launched their raid.

A spokesman at the Israeli Embassy in London said his government was in touch with other governments, the International Red Cross and other organizations in an effort to learn Mrs. Bloch's whereabouts.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, SecretaryGeneral Kurt Waldheim called the hijacking affair a tragic incident that shows the need to combat international terrorism.

of new, interstate gas. A low-quality gas, called town gas, is produced in other nations and was produced in this country before the advent of natural gas pipelines.

'We hear a great deal of talk about the need to develop new technology for coal conversion," R. R. Breckenfeld of Shell Oil Co. said. "The real problem is not the availability of technology, but that the technology that is available is too expensive.

'Coal gasification has been practiced commercially for 125 to 150 years. Nearly 50 commercial gasifiers are operating today. One can hardly say that the technology is not available.' Several ventures that

John McKinley, president of Texaco Inc., said recently that a plant to produce 100,000 barrels of oil a day from shale would cost between $1.5 billion and $2 billion and require the mining of 50 million tons of shale a year - five times the size of the largest coal mining operation in the country. Its product would have to sell for $18 to $22 a barrel, compared with imported oil now costing $12 to $13 a barrel.

"It seems that as each year passes," McKinley said, "the possibility of oil shale making a real contribution moves two vears forward."
